The figure is more than half length, the desk behind which the Judge stands cuttling off the view of his body a little below the waist. The attitude is natural, and the Judge seems to be in the act of charging a jury, toward whose box, as the Westcheater courtroom is planned, he appears to be looking.

Blandy said that the whole project would cost approximately $2,000,000. The Legislature originally allowed $1,50,000 for the bridge, it being expressly allowed $1,500,000 for the bridge, it being expressly provided that the new structure should connect Third-ave, by a straight and direct highway over the river. Instead of conforming with the act a horseshoe plan of approach was approved and $700,000 spent in constructing it. The approach will now have to be changed, and for this purpose the Legislature was recently asked to appropriate $350,000 more. But another $150,000, it is now discovered, will be necessary, and the bill will have to be changed to read $500,000, thus making the cost of the bridge $2,000,000.

STRASBURG MERCHANT RELEASED.

JUSTICE PRYOR VACATES HIS OWN ORDER FOR MAY'S ARREST. Justice Pryor, in the Supreme Court, yesterday vacated an order of arrest which he himself had issued. Ferdinand May was the person arrested. He was taken to Ludiow Street Juli on Friday by Deputy-Sheriff Walgering for an alleged fraud committed in Strasburg, Germany, the amount involved being $200,000. Justice Pryor granted an order of arrest in the civil action, and the ball was placed at $100,000, which

Frederic R. Coudert, jr., appeared in the Supreme Court yesterlay and asked Justice Pryor to vacate, ex parte, the order of arrest. Mr. Coudert argued that if a fraud had been committed it was clearly an extraditable offence, and the plaintiffs had the remedy of criminal proceedings.

Justice Pryor said that he was in grave doubt, and under a decision by the Court of Appeals an order of arrest should not be granted or allowed to stand when there was a doubt as to the legality of its issuance. He asked Mr. Coudert to give him an assurance that May would not begin an action for faise arrest, and this assurance being readily given he signed an order vacating the previous order.

The paper was served later upon the Warden of Ludlow Street Jali, and May was released.

JOHN SIMPSON'S RESIGNATION.

It was understood yesterday that John Simpson, the Superintendent of Streets and Roads in the Department of Public Works, has been asked to resign based upon some technical irregularities in the conduct of Mr. Simpson's office. General Collis was out of town yesterday, having gone to Philadelphia, it was said, and Superintendent Simpson was not at his office. His resignation has not yet been handed

Mayor Strong and asked him to intervene in the matter was pronounced by the Mayor yesterday to be incorrect. "Mr. Simpson was here the other day," the Mayor said, "and talked, I believe, with Mr. Hedges (the Mayor's secretary) but he said nothing to me. I have not heard that Mr. Simpson has as yet resigned."

John Simpson was for many years the Republican leader of his Assembly District—the present XIIth—and his name headed the district delegates to the State and county conventions for a period dating back to the leadership of Chester A. Arthur. He was also a delegate to several Republican National conventions. He was prominent in recent campalgns on the East Side and was especially active in the Mayor Strong and asked him to intervene in the conventions. He was prominent in recent campaigns on the East Side and was especially active in the campaign of 1894, which resulted in the overthrow of Tammany and the entrance of the present city administration. William Brookfield, soon after he became Commissioner of Public Works, appointed Mr. Simpson Superintendent of Streets and Roads at a salary of $2,750. He was continued by General Collis, who succeeded Mr. Brookfield, until the present time. At the last two primaries Simpson suffered defeat and John Stiebling, Platt Republican, succeeded him.

It was reported yesterday that Mr. Simpson will resign to-morrow, his resignation to take effect March 1.
